EV Drivers Are an Attractive New Source of Revenue

Studies have found that EV drivers are highly educated, earn twice the average national income, and are "green minded." They make a very attractive target demographic that represents a steady source of new and repeat customers for retail businesses.

You Need Smart EV Charging to Attract EV Drivers

EV drivers choose destinations based on the availability of EV chargers from their preferred network. As a retail business looking to acquire new customers and build loyalty, you need to offer a cutting-edge smart EV charging amenity to beat the competition and attract EV drivers to your business.

ChargePoint Can Help

ChargePoint offers a customizable and turnkey solution for retail businesses that helps attract new and repeat customers, increase average shopping time, and boost revenues by capturing an attractive and growing EV driver market.

“The cost for us is well worth it for the customer convenience. We find it is a good return on investment.”
